Work at a Startup Expo @ Georgia Tech

RESERVE A BOOTH

ABOUT THE EVENT

An application-based startup hiring expo in Atlanta.

Students apply ahead of time and we review every application, so everyone you meet has already been vetted.

THE PROBLEM

Career fairs don't work well for either side.

Students

Wait in long lines for a short conversation that usually ends with “apply online.”

Recruiters

Leave career fairs with a stack of resumes to sort through.

HOW THIS ONE IS DIFFERENT

There are no long lines, no suits, and no stack of resumes.

Candidates apply and build their profile before the event. A week out, companies get access to the platform to review attendees, search them with AI, and send interview invites.

On the day, you meet candidates in person and interview them on site. You can go from first conversation to offer in the same day.

HOW IT WORKS

You know who you want to meet before the event starts.

One week before

Platform access

Add your open roles and review attendee profiles. AI search ranks attendees against your role descriptions.

Before and during the event

Send interview invites

Invite the candidates you want to interview. Each one gets a time slot in the platform.

Oct 13
(10am–3pm)

Meet them at the expo

Two groups of 500 pre-vetted attendees come through the floor. Meet the candidates and find people you missed.

Oct 13
(3:15pm–5pm)

Interview on site

Candidates come to your table at their scheduled time. If it's a good fit, you can make an offer the same day.

ABOUT HACKERHOUSE

The best builders in Atlanta already come to us.

HackerHouse is a selective residential community at Georgia Tech where the most ambitious student builders live and build products 24/7. Running it means we spend all year finding the best talent on campus, and that talent already knows us

1,000+

applications for every HackerHouse cohort from Georgia Tech, Stanford, Purdue, and more

01 They already apply to join us

Every cohort, over a thousand students apply for a spot in the house. That pool of builders is the first group we invite to apply to notacareerfair.

02 They already show up to our events

HackerHouse runs events all semester, and the same high-agency builders keep coming back. They hear about this event from us first.

03 We know what great looks like

Startups from the house have raised $12M, and our latest cohort's products have 3.2M users. Members have gone on to YC and Antler. We vet attendees with the same judgment we use to pick them.

These are the people you'll meet at notacareerfair.com

THE TALENT POOL

Upperclassmen who ship.

80% of attendees are upperclassmen and grads who have already built products with traction, ready to take that energy to a company.

Recruiting for full-time and internships.
